

REPUBLIC DAY SPEECH

The Honorable chief guest of the day, respected principle, teachers, parents and my all dear friends. This time we are celebrating 70th Republic day of India that is why we are gathered here. Today I am going to speak few words about republic day which is a very special day for all Indian citizens and wish to all of you a very happy republic day.

India celebrates the Republic Day every year on the 26th of January from 1950 because at this day India was declared as the republic country as well as constitution of India came into force after independence of long years of struggle. India got independence on 15th of August in 1947 and two and half years later it became a Democratic Republic. Republic day in India has a great importance in the history as it tells us all about each and every struggle of Indian freedom fighters.

Republic means the supreme power of the people living in the country and only public has rights to elect their representatives as political leader to lead the country in right direction So, India is a Republic country after 26th of January 1950, where public elects its leaders as a president, prime minister, etc. Our Great Indian freedom fighters have struggled a lot to the "Purna Swami" in India. We can never forget their sacrifices towards our country. They did so that their future generations may live without struggle and led country ahead. We should remember them on such great occasions and salute them. It has become possible just because of them that we can think from our own mind and live freely in our nation without anyone's force.

There is also a big exhibition of the Indian culture and tradition takes place by the different Indian states to show the 'Unity in diversity' in India.

Before ending this speech I'd like to thank you all for giving me a chance to express my feelings about republic day and I am proud to be an Indian where we have all types of independence.
